Aylett, the introducer of the measure, in defending the bill, thought that the man who was fined for purchasing a package of cigarettes on Sunday was unjustly treated; that sallors who landed after 9 o'clock should be anowed to buy soda water and tobacco. He had ob-tained an opinion from the High Sheriff that if the present has were rigidly en-forced the station house would be full. The Attorney General had recommended that the law be not too severely upheld. The bill was introduced because things were too one-sided at present. On plantations irrigation goes on on Sundays, which is not also intely necessary, while at times when traveling on Sundays it at times when traveling on Sundays it is impossible in the country districts to get even a cracker to cat.

Ewaliko opined that if a man is offered double wage to work Sundays and accepts that is all right. That the offered bill was one-sided in that it allowed steamers to discharge freight on the Sabbath and not sailing vessels. He moved an indefinite postponement.

Makee pointed out that section 4, allowing stores to remain open from 1 to 6 practically conserved only two hours of Sunday, as at present barber shops were oven until 9 and the substitute bill pro posed to extend that time to II.
